Darcel Clark, representing Bronx District Attorney Darcel D. Clark

Ms. Darcel Clark announced to the community that she was elected for another four years in November 2019. She or a staff member has been going throughout the Bronx community to inform the people about the new Criminal Justice Bail Reform, which has been a long time coming considering how the black and brown community have been treated as evident through Rikers Island. The new laws have gone into effect beginning January 1, 2020. She is going to discuss the bail reform, discovery reform laws and speedy trial. Judges decide the bail depending on the character and history. The DA's office can recommend bail. After the bail reform, all misdemeanors, in which you serve time for a year or less and low-level nonviolent felonies aren't eligible for bail, which can all be found online. Therefore, regardless of past records, judges can't set bail. Ms. Clark informed the community that those at Rikers Island are awaiting trial because they weren't able to afford bail. Ms. Clark told the community that the legislature needs to close the loophole of those same people repeating the same crimes because they no longer have to pay bail. Ms. Clark informed the community that discovery refers to all the evidence in the case and the reform requires the prosecution and defense attorney to exchange all of the evidence, so that the attorneys are both prepared for the trial. However, before the reform, the defendants were pleading guilty without knowing what evidence was against them. Previously, the defense attorney had to write to the judge to request a motion for the DA to provide evidence on the case, but now, it is an automatic discovery, so the DA has to turn over the evidence within 15 days without a motion and the DA's office has to sign a compliance certification. The court will then decide if the office has complied. There isn't any way to retrieve all of the evidence required, so it is up to the court to decide how important the missing information is. However, 15 days isn't always enough and the DA requests an additional 30 days to gather the evidence, which is granted by some judges but not all. The DA's office is also required to turn over the witness' contact information, which Ms. Clark is afraid it would prevent people from reporting crimes. However, the DA can ask for a protective order for the witness from the judge to prevent sharing the witness' contact information until later on in the process. The DA's office has a witness security program, in which the DA has detectives, who are assigned to cases where the victims are in fear of retaliation. The defense attorneys have alternative contact measures, so the defense doesn't have the witness' actual home phone number or address. The trials are supposed to go faster considering the discovery reform but Ms. Clark informed us that there has been very few cases that went on trial because they are chasing after evidence. Ms. Clark requests the public to give the office more time to adjust and adapt to the new laws. The DA will take all the evidence from the crime scene so that the Defense Attorney doesn't have to return to the crime scene, which in some cases could be somebody's home. The DA would argue to the judge that it isn't safe and it is an invasion of privacy. If it is still allowed, the victim is allowed to have law enforcement present at the time of the investigation. The witness and victims can see the evidence depending on the situation. The DA suggests that 60 days is a more reasonable time frame to turn over the evidence to the defense attorney. If the community has any other questions, they can reach out to the Community Affairs at the DA's office.

Captain Joseph Tompkins, representing 48th Precinct

Captain Tompkins announced that he has just been assigned as the commanding officer of the 48th Precinct. He informed the community that most of his supervising career took place in the Bronx, including serving as the captain for three years in the 44th Precinct.

Councilwoman Vanessa Gibson, representing Council Member Vanessa Gibson

Councilwoman Vanessa Gibson informed the community that she represents District 16. The council members are working with assembly members on the Bail Reform and they will be hiring about 1,000 new workers in the law enforcement agencies. She also told the community that they have added $175 million to their budget because it is a mandate from Albany. She informed the community that Election Reform has also been voted and she urged the community to speak with their representatives regarding the new reforms. The council members began the budget process for New York City and they work on budget priorities at borough board meetings. The budget released by Mayor de Blasio is $96 billion and it grows every year. City council members will begin their hearings on the first week of March at City Hall and every agency will speak on the budget's impact on their work. All the council members will work with their advocates to come up with priorities as the executive budget is released in April. The second round of hearings will continue in May after the executive budget. The council members will work with administrators to put together a final adopted budget by July 1, 2020. Ms. Vanessa Gibson informed the community that a priority for all the council members are youth programs. In the two past budgets, the community board budget has been increased by $42,000 to enhance the work of the community board. The city council members were also able to introduce the reduced metrocard program, Fair Fares. If community members live at or below federal poverty level between 18 and 64 years old, then they can apply online, through 311 or the city website. She also announced that the city council recently passed bills around food policy, codifying the Mayor's Office of Food Policy, developing a ten year policy strategy and the Reckless Driver Accountability Act, which will begin in Brooklyn. The reckless driver accountability will start in Brooklyn. Drivers will have to take a drivers accountability course if drivers receive a certain number of offenses, red light and speed light violations within a twelve-month period. If drivers fail to take the course, then the vehicle will be impounded. This is going to be a pilot program for three years and will be expanded if it turns out successful. Ms. Vanessa Gibson announced that on February 27, 2020 at 6:00 PM, there will be a Black History Month celebration at the Botanical Garden. There will be a Women's History Month event on March 20, 2020 at the Bronx Museum of the Arts at 12:00 PM. The councilwoman oversees the capital commitment plan in the city, which is $110 billion. She also announced that the deadline to apply for discretionary funding is February 18, 2020. There will be a town hall meeting on February 18, 2020 at 6:30 PM at the Gethsemane Baptist Church regarding the bail reform law and housing shelters for youth, who are eighteen years old and older. On February 19, 2020 from 10:00 AM to 4:00 PM, there will be a resource event to help respond to tickets issued by city agencies at Morrisania Library, 610 East 169 Street Bronx, New York 10456.
